Helping Educators Make the Greatest Impact

We are Corwin, a SAGE Publishing company, family-owned, independent, and built on an unshakeable foundation of beliefs:

• We believe that all children can learn—and that all means all
• We believe that every child deserves a great education—not by chance, but by design
• We believe that knowing our impact is a privilege and a responsibility
• We believe that education is the cornerstone of a just, stable, and thriving society
• We believe in the fierce urgency of now, and that is reflected daily in our work and our actions

We take pride in publishing research-based, peer-reviewed, ready-to-use resources for educators. Built around the work of some of the most respected experts in education, our publishing programme features more than 3,000 titles from more than 1,000 authors including world-leading subject experts such as John Hattie, James Nottingham, Michael Fullan and David Sousa to name but a few. Our books are translated into dozens of languages and are used by millions of educators around the world.

Whether you’re seeking out lesson ideas for Monday morning or exploring a long-term, schoolwide solution to a persistent challenge, I’m confident that Corwin has what you need.

Best regards,

Mike Soules

Creating Thinking Classrooms
Leading Educational Change for This Century
Garfield Gini-Newman, Roland Case

Reinvigorating today’s schools with quality thinking

Critical, creative, and collaborative thinking should be at the centre of all 21st century teaching and learning. Creating Thinking Classrooms is loaded with examples, stories and strategies for reinvigorating schools through quality thinking and reasoning. Written for leaders who support teachers, this guide treats educational change as a process of renovation, rather than revolution, and emphasises building upon, refining and sustaining the many good things happening in today’s schools. Practical and user-friendly, it emphasises five key principles for learning and teaching:

- Engaging students
- Sustaining enquiry
- Nurturing self-regulated learners
- Creating assessment-rich learning
- Enhancing learning through digital technology

Why Some Leaders Succeed and Others Fail

Michael Fullan

A Joint Publication With the Ontario Principals’ Council and the B.C. Principals’ and Vice Principals’ Association

Break the cycle of surface-level change and failure

Michael Fullan returns with an eminently readable, compelling, and practical guide on the three habits of nuance: joint determination, adaptability, and culture-based accountability.

Learn how you can:

- Combine the power of networks and humanity to get to desired destinations.
- Embrace complexity and understand context to develop better judgment
- Change the culture of your organisation to harness the forces of nuance
- Develop quality change that sticks

With tons of examples and case studies, this book makes explicit the hidden habits and mind frames of leaders who deliver lasting change.

Engage the World Change the World

Deep Learning has claimed the attention of educators and policymakers around the world. This book not only defines what deep learning is, but takes up the question of how to mobilise complex, whole-system change and transform learning for all students.

Deep Learning is a global partnership that works to: transform the role of teachers to that of activators who design experiences that build global competencies using real-life problem solving; and supports schools, districts, and systems to shift practice and how to measure learning in authentic ways. This comprehensive strategy incorporates practical tools and processes to engage students, educators, and families in new partnerships and drive deep learning.

These Kids Are Out of Control
Why We Must Reimagine Classroom Management for Equity
H. Richard Milner IV, Heather B. Cunningham, Lori Delale-O’Connor, Erika Gold Kestenberg
Today’s classrooms reimagined
A critically important resource for teachers and administrators alike, These Kids Are Out of Control details the specific practices, tools, beliefs, dispositions, and mindsets that are essential to better serving the complex needs of our diverse learners, especially our marginalised students. Gain expert insight on:
• What it means to be culturally responsive in today’s classroom environments, even in schools at large
• How to decide what to teach, understand the curriculum, build relationships in and outside of school, and assess student development and learning
• The four best practices for building a classroom culture that is both nurturing and rigorous, and where all students are seen, heard, and respected
• Alternatives to punitive disciplinary action

Grading for Equity
What It Is, Why It Matters, and How It Can Transform Schools and Classrooms
Joe Feldman
Crack open the grading conversation
Here at last—and none too soon—is a resource that delivers the research base, tools, and courage to tackle one of the most challenging and emotionally charged conversations in today’s schools: our inconsistent grading practices and the ways they can inadvertently perpetuate the achievement and opportunity gaps among our students.
Joe Feldman cuts to the core of the conversation, revealing how grading practices that are accurate, bias-resistant, and motivational will improve learning, minimise grade inflation, reduce failure rates, and become a lever for creating stronger teacher-student relationships and more caring classrooms.

Culturally Proficient Leadership
The Personal Journey Begins Within SECOND EDITION
Raymond D. Terrell, Eloise K. Terrell, Randall B. Lindsey, Delores B. Lindsey

Foreword by Dan Alpert

The revision of this innovative, bestselling book provides the reader with a clear, interactive road map for leadership as a personal journey. Like other works in the Cultural Proficiency series, the book begins with a focus on one’s self with the premise that one cannot adequately lead change in schools or other organisations until one truly knows and understands one’s self as a leader. Leaders are challenged to interrogate their experiences and perceptions through the lens of Cultural Proficiency, openness to difference, and celebration of the Other.

Progressing Students’ Language Day by Day
Alison L. Bailey, Margaret Heritage
Foreword by Paola Uccelli
Because content and language learning go hand in hand What’s so utterly ground-breaking about this book is Bailey and Heritage’s Dynamic Language Learning Progression (DLLP) process: research-based tools for obtaining much deeper insight into a student’s language progress, then for identifying the most appropriate instructional steps to elevate language proficiency and content knowledge. Step by step, Bailey and Heritage describe how to:
• Engage with students to advance their development of sophisticated, high-leverage language features for explaining content
• Use the DLLP approach to formative assessment, then plan your teaching in response to assessment evidence
• Examine words, sentences, and discourse—the three dimensions of language that are part of the DLLP process for cultivating language development
• Discover how leadership support and communities of practice (CoPs) can facilitate a successful and sustainable implementation of the DLLP process

Developing Assessment-Capable Visible Learners, Grades K–12
Maximizing Skill, Will, and Thrill
Nancy Frey, John Hattie, Douglas Fisher

Imagine students who describe their learning in these terms: ‘I know where I’m going, I have the tools I need for the journey, and I monitor my own progress.’ Now imagine the extraordinary difference this type of ownership makes in their progress over the course of a school year.

This illuminating book shows how to make this scenario an everyday reality. With its foundation in principles introduced in the authors’ bestselling Visible Learning for Literacy, this resource delves more deeply into the critical component of self-assessment, revealing the most effective types of assessment and how each can motivate students to higher levels of achievement.

What Works Best to Optimize Student Learning
John Almarode, Douglas Fisher, Nancy Frey, John Hattie

Enquiry, laboratory, project-based learning, discovery learning—which science instructional approach is most effective?

In Visible Learning for Science, the authors reveal that it’s not which strategy, but when, and plot a vital framework for choosing the right approach at the right time, depending on where students are within the three phases of learning: surface, deep, and transfer.

Synthesising state-of-the-art science instruction and assessment with John Hattie’s cornerstone educational research, this book empowers you to plan, develop, and implement high-impact instruction at each phase so all students demonstrate more than a year’s worth of learning for every year in school.

What Works Best to Optimize Student Learning
Foreword by Diane J. Briars, NCTM Past-President

Rich tasks, collaborative work, number talks, problem-based learning, direct instruction…with so many possible approaches, how do we know which ones work the best?

In Visible Learning for Mathematics, six acclaimed educators assert it’s not about which one—it’s about when—and show you how to design high-impact instruction so all students demonstrate more than a year’s worth of mathematics learning for a year spent in school.

Chapter by chapter, and equipped with video clips, planning tools, rubrics, and templates, you get the inside track on which instructional strategies to use at each phase of the learning cycle.

Visible Learning for Literacy, Grades K–12
Implementing the Practices That Work Best to Accelerate Student Learning
Douglas Fisher, Nancy Frey, John Hattie

Ensure students demonstrate more than a year’s worth of learning during a school year

Renowned literacy experts Douglas Fisher and Nancy Frey work with John Hattie to apply his 15 years of research, identifying instructional routines that have the biggest impact on student learning, to literacy practices. These practices are ‘visible’ because their purpose is clear, they are implemented at the right moment in a student’s learning, and their effect is tangible.

Through dozens of classroom scenarios, learn how to use the right approach at the right time for surface, deep, and transfer learning and which routines are most effective at each phase of learning.

A to Z of Behaviour
Tracey Lawrence

Have a quick flick through this book in the staffroom over coffee, or in a snatched quiet moment

Behaviour, and how to deal with it, is a concern for trainee, new, and experienced teachers. Alphabetical entries cover things like ADHD, low-level behaviour, and mood hoovers, and contain case studies from Primary and Secondary schools. Strategies and advice on how to deal with common issues are presented in bite-size chunks, so this book allows you to find what you need quickly. Links out show you who to follow on Twitter for further advice, support, and collaboration.

Think Like Socrates
Using Questions to Invite Wonder and Empathy into the Classroom, Grades 4–12
Shanna Peeples

Socrates believed in the power of questions rather than lecturing his students. But how did we get so far away from his method of enquiry? Shanna Peeples, 2015 National Teacher of the Year, will show you how teachers can create an engaging atmosphere that encourages student questions and honors their experiences. This resource provides:

• Questions paired with sample texts
• Step-by-step lessons for generating and using students’ questions
• Lesson extensions for English language learners, special education students, and gifted and talented students
• Writing suggestions, in-class debate questions, and scoring rubrics
• Multimedia texts
• Protocols for using enquiry with adults as a base for professional development

Teach Like Yourself
How Authentic Teaching Transforms Our Students and Ourselves
Gravity Goldberg

Can brilliant teaching boil down to five practices? Ahh—yes!

Teaching is one of the most rewarding professions because it is so complex and ever-evolving. Yet it’s also one of the toughest jobs for those very same reasons. In Teach Like Yourself, Gravity Goldberg holds both these truths in the palm of her hand and predicts a happy future if you apply ‘you’ to all you do. Research, theory, curriculum and instructional design—you’ve got all that content expertise. Now, learn the practices that will empower you to use your full gifts as a teacher:

• Knowing your core beliefs
• Viewing teaching as a practice
• Building balanced relationships
• Driving professional growth
• Taking care of your whole self

Challenging Mindset

Why a Growth Mindset Makes a Difference in Learning—and What to Do When It Doesn’t

James Nottingham, Bosse Larsson

Create the right conditions for a growth mindset to flourish in your school and your students

Mindset doesn’t matter when things are easy; it is only when faced with challenges that working from a growth mindset influences learning. But what is a ‘growth mindset’? Why are mindset interventions not working in schools (yet)? What can be done to change this?

Challenging Mindset answers key questions about Carol Dweck’s theory of Mindset and shares proven strategies for putting mindset theory into practice. A nuanced understanding of mindset is critical for fostering a growth mindset in yourself, your classroom, and your students.

Developing Writers of Argument
Tools and Rules That Sharpen Student Reasoning
Michael W. Smith, Jon-Philip Imbrenda
Foreword by Jim Burke

Better arguments make better students—and better citizens
The ability to make effective arguments is not only necessary in students’ academic lives, it’s a transferable skill essential to students’ future success as critical thinkers and contributing members of society. But how do we engage students and ensure they understand argument writing’s fundamental components?

This book shows the way, with ready-to-implement lessons that make argument writing topical and relevant. Students form arguments about subjects of interest, and then reflect on the arguments’ organisation, giving them reusable structural models.

Complete with guidance on applying the lessons’ techniques in a unit-wide context, Developing Writers of Argument offers a practical approach for instructing in this crucial aspect of students’ development.

Visible Learning for Science, Grades K–12
What Works Best to Optimize Student Learning
John Almarode, Douglas Fisher, Nancy Frey, John Hattie
Enquiry, laboratory, project-based learning, discovery learning—which science instructional approach is most effective?
In Visible Learning for Science, the authors reveal that it’s not which strategy, but when, and plot a vital framework for choosing the right approach at the right time, depending on where students are within the three phases of learning: surface, deep, and transfer.
Synthesising state-of-the-art science instruction and assessment with John Hattie’s cornerstone educational research, this book empowers you to plan, develop, and implement high-impact instruction at each phase so all students demonstrate more than a year’s worth of learning for every year in school.

Establish Your Baseline

Begin your Visible Learning journey by building foundational knowledge of John Hattie’s research with workshops in the Visible Learningplus Foundation Series.

- Foundation Day: Build a foundation across schools
- Evidence into Action I: Learn how to gather evidence
- Collect Evidence over 60 Days
- Evidence into Action II: Develop a Visible Learning action plan

The Visible Learningplus school change model of professional development is based on one simple belief: every student should experience at least one year’s growth over the course of one school year.

Visible Learningplus translates John Hattie’s extensive research into a practical model of enquiry, evaluation, and implementation.
Implement PD based on your area of greatest need

The Visible Learning plus Inside Series helps you master the practices that create the biggest gains in achievement by focusing on your areas of greatest need.
