Welcome...

Welcome to our 2018 Criminology catalogue featuring our latest and bestselling titles, expertly developed to support students, lecturers and researchers at every stage of their academic career.

Across textbooks, reference works, and journals, we aim to bring timely and authoritative resources to the academic community. The coverage of our textbook programme makes SAGE the perfect go-to when recommending texts to your students to inspire them to read deeply enough into, and widely enough around, your subject area.

Discover new ideas and tools for your next project, syllabus, or library, from practical study guides and undergraduate course companions to critical researcher-oriented titles, covering an array of topics from policing to prostitution, gangs, gender, and victimology, as well as new frontiers in cybercrime, terrorism, criminological theory, and more.

We couldn’t fit everything in this catalogue, so be sure to browse our complete collection online at uk.sagepub.com/criminology-criminal-justice, where most of our titles are available as e-books and inspection copies, if you’re teaching a relevant course. You can also follow us on Twitter: @SAGEcriminology.

If you are interested in joining the list, as an author or editor, do get in touch with our Publisher, Natalie Aguilera, who will be happy to discuss any potential projects.

We wish you every success in your academic journey in 2018!

THE SAGE DICTIONARY OF CRIMINOLOGY

Third Edition

Edited by Eugene McLaughlin City University London and John Muncie The Open University

‘An indispensable tool for interpreting and navigating this everchanging field, with packed and theoretically weighty entries written by the original researchers and theoreticians themselves.’

- Shadd Maruna, Queen’s University Belfast

Now in its Third Edition, this bestselling reference text has established itself as the authoritative source covering the key concepts, theories, and methods in criminology and criminal justice, and is edited by two of the leading figures in the field. The book is:

• Comprehensive: now with over 300 entries, the book has been updated to include an expanded editorial introduction

• Definitive: concepts are precisely defined so students have a clear understanding of the history and development of each topic and debate

• Student-focused: each entry maps connections across various fields and issues, and includes further reading to extend students’ knowledge throughout their studies

• International: contributions from internationally-renowned academics and practitioners ensure that this book is global and comparative throughout.

This wide-ranging reference and research tool will be an essential companion for students and academics within criminology, criminal justice and legal studies and related fields including sociology, social policy, psychology and cultural studies.

What resources are students using?

We asked 610 social sciences undergraduates from various UK universities what resources they use for their courses and this is what they said...

85% purchase some or all of the books on their reading lists, because they are:
- recommended by their lecturer
- helping them prep for exams/assignments
- helping them achieve better grades

36% use video as part of their learning, and this is where they go to find educational videos:
- YouTube
- Library
- University’s virtual learning environment

They prefer books with:
- simple navigation
- pictures and diagrams
- step by step guides on how to use them

They buy their books from:
- Amazon
- second hand
- university bookshop

91% use eBooks and online resources, because they are:
- accessible 24/7
- environmentally friendly
- interactive

92% students also use resources not on the reading list, because they are:
- recommended by their lecturer
- helping them achieve better grades
- enhancing their learning

The library gets used as well, with:
- 41% using it one or two times a month
- 35% using it one or two times a week
- 15% using it infrequently
- 7% of students using it daily

When it comes to finding the book they need in the library:
- 60% have a 50/50 chance
- 22% of students always do
- 15% never do

THE SAGE/SUSSEX UNIVERSITY PARTNERSHIP

We are listening to students

We understand the challenges lecturers face and we recognize that as a publisher, we can play an important role in cultivating student engagement through the learning resources that we produce. We are committed to creating textbooks your students will enjoy and use with ease - we do this through listening to and working with students through various avenues.

One of these is the SAGE/Sussex University partnership. In 2010 SAGE started a partnership with Sussex University Library to develop a better understanding of the research behaviour of doctoral students. In 2013 the project was extended to include undergraduate students with the aim of monitoring their learning and information-seeking behaviour across the three years of their study.

Through various activities the students have provided us with insight into their experiences, concerns, behaviour and attitudes, enabling us to explore issues and themes which place students at the heart of our textbook publishing.

These are the three Sussex University students that we work with, now in Year 2:

CRITICAL THINKING
Your Guide to Effective Argument, Successful Analysis and Independent Study
Tom Chatfield

Do your students need to demonstrate a good argument or find more evidence? Are they mystified by your comments around ‘critical analysis needed’? How can you help them learn to ‘think well’?

This handy guide teaches students exactly what critical analysis entails: how to make an argument, understand bias and assess evidence. Designed to work seamlessly with a power pack of digital resources and exercises, they’ll find practical and effective tools to help them think and write critically in an information-saturated age.

No matter whether they’re launching on their first degree or arriving as an international or mature student, Critical Thinking gives students the skills, insights and confidence to succeed.

How do you see criminological research as changing from past to present?

Criminological research today is as exciting and innovative as it ever was. Our research today creates the research traditions of tomorrow. Most of us engage in research with an ambition to make a difference in the future, our research is only limited by our imagination. The way in which it has changed is probably in terms of scale, scope and focus. In simple terms, more is being done, on a broader range of topics and often with more granularity. It is little wonder that what is required is a comprehensive resource that allows students and staff to keep on top of the development of methods and methodologies, and areas for research.

What’s new to this edition that you hope students will find most useful?

This third edition has many new chapters including those on historical analysis and visual criminological research. Whilst we have not compromised on depth and quality, we have expanded the contents to illustrate the growth in volume and nature of criminological research, as we describe above.

What would be your top piece of advice for someone setting out on their first research project?

That’s an easy one – read chapters 1, 2 and 3! Then, look through the contents of the book and align your own research with that of the individual chapters and read them.
DISCOVERING STATISTICS USING IBM SPSS STATISTICS
Fifth Edition

Andy Field  University of Sussex

With an exciting new look, new characters to meet, and its unique combination of humour and step-by-step instruction, this award-winning book is the statistics lifesaver for everyone. From initial theory through to regression, factor analysis and multilevel modelling, Andy Field animates statistics and SPSS software with his famously bizarre examples and activities.

New to this edition:
- A radical new design with original illustrations and even more colour
- A maths diagnostic tool to help students establish what areas they need to revise and improve on
- A revamped digital resource that uses video, case studies, datasets and more to help students negotiate project work, master data management techniques, and apply key writing and employability skills.
