Welcome...

The field of Early Years is rapidly evolving and expanding, that is why it is so crucial to constantly stay up to date with the latest thinking and policy changes. In this mini catalogue we have compiled a list of our most recent new titles and new editions that will become invaluable to students, practitioners, and researchers alike.

An Introduction to Early Childhood Studies (p.4) and Child Development (p.14) are back in new editions – these classic course texts are essential to give your students the right foundation. Contemporary Childhood (p.4) will get your students thinking deeply about what it means to be a child in the 21st century, and Developing School Readiness (p.9) will engage students in one of the most interesting topics in early years today. Learning to read is an exciting and vital part of every child’s development, so don’t miss out on the exciting new edition of Teaching Early Reading and Phonics (p.15). Derek Haylock and Anne Cockburn’s Understanding Mathematics for Young Children (p.10) is the go-to guide for developing mathematics subject knowledge and it’s back in a new edition. Write Dance (p.15), an innovative programme using music and movement to introduce handwriting to children captured the imagination of children and teachers across the world in its first editions – the exciting bumper new edition is a must-have for early years practitioners!
